Quality and Security Policy at GEODIS

One of the world's largest transportation and logistics networks provides services under the brand name of GEODIS. The company has extensive experience in delivering quality in line with the expectations of our customers, providing services at the highest level. Forwarding, transportation, logistics (sea, air, rail distribution, and other supporting services) are a priority for the brand, which we carry out for you and our stakeholders while ensuring the highest quality of services.

About us – GEODIS Road Network sp. z o.o.:

Based on our experience, we have a great understanding of what business is like today. Responsible work with respect towards customers is embedded in our daily activities. We are proud of our high work culture, caring for our employees and subcontractors, as well as caring for our environment and accepting diversity.

We do this in line with our quality standards: ISO: 9001:2015, ISO: 2200:2018, ISO: 28000:2007. The committed team of the Management Group periodically reviews its areas of responsibility, which affect the continuous improvement of the Quality and Safety Management systems. Such improvement of the management system is part of the company's policy of strengthening the organization. GEODIS Road Network's Quality and Safety Department monitors the above processes. In addition, the supervision of food safety and the entire supply chain has been entrusted to a team with the appropriate competencies and qualifications.

A professional approach to the protection of digital and personal data, as well as innovative support of IT systems, ensure the continuity of all processes. Identifying the flow of shipments on the basis of assigned numbers allows constant supervision of the entrusted goods. Our specialized Customer Service Department, as well as the entire organization, is at the disposal of our customers.

The Company confirms that our system operates in accordance with the above principles in terms of the Quality and Safety Policy and the strategy established within our organization.
